The Almshouse and the Commissioners of Emigration.

TO THE GOVERNORS OF THE ALMSHOUSE.

GENTIAMEN—The Commissioners of Emigration have received and given the most respectful consideration to the resolutions of the Governors of the Almshouse, of May 4, 1853, in relation to the insane emigrants chargeable to this commissioner, and now supported at the asylum of the Governors at a stipulated rate.

It has been a subject of great, though unavoidable regret to the Commissioners, that the unusual and unexpected expenses of the long and severe winter of 1851—1852, contracted chiefly by the relist and support of alien poor who would otherwise have failen immediately upon the city and its almshouse department, have caused a large average of payments for the support of the alien incane in the city Almshouse institutions, under the contract between the governors of that department and this commission. The same cause has also led to a similar delay in refunding to the other counties of this State their advances for alien poor who have paid communication money.

It is now confidently trusted that the increase of the commission. The same cause has also led to a similar delay in refunding to the other counties of this State their advances for alien poor who have paid commutation money.

It is now confidently trusted that the increase of the commutation, by the law of the last session, for the repayment to the counties, and the relief thus afforded to the general fund, will, with the present increased emigration, enable the Commissioners to discharge all the claims of the counties, and also of the Governors of the Almshouse, during the present summer.

The Commissioners are not sensible of having in any way "disregarded the protection" of any of those persons whom the Governors of the Almshouse refer to as those over whom "they are, without reasons or authority, to centime their guardianship."

By the general laws since May, 1846, regulating the action of the commission, all slien poor in any county, (not excepting the city and county of New York.) when requiring relies, and not otherwise provided for by the establishments or officers of this commission, are left under the general laws for the relief and support of the poor, to be cared for as other poor, by the local authorities. For such expenses the commission is directed to "reimburse the several cities, towns, and counties," from the commutation money 'as far as may be,"

To this general operation of the law, the city of New York, as above intimated, forms no exception; although it has been found expenses, other city poor, in the insante to substitute all specific contract for mutual convenience, with the Almshouse to put an end to the expense incurred for them, according to the means of the commission. If, therefore, it be the pleasure of the Governors of the Almshouse to put an end to the expense incurred for them, according to the means of the commission and the received as other city poor, in the insantent make no objection, although they consider the present arrangement must be received to the flowernors of the Almshouse, that such present arrangement. But as the Co dered, and reimbursement theretor will be made by the Commissioners according to law.

The arrearages for former account for the support of such persons will be paid as early as possible out of the excess of the income of the general fund, above the our rent expenses of the establishments of this commission. The Commissioners of Emigration take this occasion of sulling the attention of another subject, which has been repeatedly brought before the Gevernors without any defininite action thereupon, at least ro far as the Commissioners have been informed.

Independently of other charges which the law allows to be set off against "any expenses incurred by any city, town or county," which it is trusted there will be no necessity to apply, there is another equitable claim of the commutation fund a minst the Alashouse Department, which is of long standing, and is regularly increasing. The commutation fund has constantly borne the expense of a large number of infants, (and many of them after they had passed the period of infancy.) the children of allem mothers, but born in this city and county, and as native citizens entitled to the aid of our peor laws. For some of these cases when illegitimate, compensation has been obtained from other quarters, but the great majority are not of that class. The impropriety of separating the child from the parent in any case, and the impossibility of doing so in many cases, must prevent a general removal of such infants from our institutions to those of the Alimhouse Department. In some, and in the aggregate, By the books at Ward's Island it appears that from 1st January, 1860, to 36th April, 1853, there were born in the establishments on that island 1998 infants, who were admitted at the charge of this commission and geared for for 7,110 weeks in the aggregate. Benicles these there were a number previous to 1850, the amount of which cannot be no precisely ascertained, and also, it is believed, a considerable number born in the city, and attenuards, while sull very young, received int

Dying Declarations.—An interesting and important question of evidence has been decided by the Supreme Court, now sitting at East Cambridge in the trial of Thomas Casey for the murder of Ouvra Taylor and his wife at Natick. Taylor, it will be recollected, was dead when found, and Mrs. Taylor, although speechless and mortally wounded, was conscious nearly up to the time of her decease. She was well aware by the assurance of her physicians that no hope was entertained of her recovery, and on being repeatedly requested under these circumstances by Doctors Whitney and Hoyt to squeeze their hands if Casey was the man who committed the deed, she did give the sign as directed. She was asked other questions to be answered by the same sign; if the response was affirmative, but to desist from pressing the hand if the response was negative. These questions were asked to test the mental consciousness and sanity of the dying woman; and the answers were such as to entirely satisfy the physicians that she had full use of her mental faculties.

By the well known rules of evidence, the dying declarations of a person fully aware of his state, are admitted in courts of justice and allowed all the credit of testimony even under the solemnities of an eath, on the ground that as individual conscious of his immediate departure to the presence of the Petry would be very unlikely to make a false statement.

The question in this case is whether the answers given by signs as directed would come under the denomination of dying declarations. The affirmative was carnestly pressed by the Attorney General, and as earnestly restated by the prisoner's courses. The Court after consultation, ruled the evidence admissible, but cautioned the jury in reference to the full amount of credit to be astached to it.

This is a very important decision, and will add another to the list of precedents for courts of justice throughout the country in all similar cases.—Hoston Journal, May 17. DYING DECLARATIONS .- An interesting and im

Dr. Charles T. Jackson, of Boston, the distinguished ge ologist, has just made a report upon the North Carolina copper mine, in which he pronounces it unsurpassed in richness, and in its results unprecedented in the history of copper mining.

The Norfolk Beacon states that a gold mine, which pro mises to be very rich, has recently been discovered in Tyriell county, North Carolina. This is the first discovery of gold that has been made in the lower part of the Siate. A valuable eliver mine has also been found in Gordon county, Georgia. We learn from the Warrenton Flag. that Mr. Thomas S. Hall, of Fauquier county, Virginia, has sold his copper mine to a New York company for $15,000—re-crying also an interest of one-eighth in the property. Dr. Taliaferro, who owns a copper mine on contiguous land, some time ago sold it for $8,000, reserving a similar interest of one-eighth.

Copper stocks have been in more request for a few days. Dam is the only one that has fallen off much since our last. The news from the Copper Falls and Toltee is very encouraging; that for mit he hastonal, which is in demand at 25, with no sellers, is even astonishing. The last samed company has but 10,000 shares. This result is the product of seven mines' operations since Sept. 16, 1852, when the captain first reached the ground, and the fifther cross-sult to the Minneaots lode is in fifty feet, and in less than a menth we hope to cut the main minnesotal lode. Increase in 1852, 124,581 tons. The distribution of the above was as follo

52,123,751 feet—being an increase of more than 12,000,000 feet over the shipments of the previous year. The total freight transported on the Lehigh canal for 1852 was 1,320,653 tens. The profits for the year were, from ground and water rents and from lots sold, $33,881 46; from coal, $202, 562 86; from tolls, $486,565 14; making an aggregate of $722,999 46; showing an excess in each one of these items over the corresponding items for 1852, and a total increase of $77,788.96 over the corresponding aggregate for the previous year. The balance for the year to the credit of profit and loss, after providing for interest, expenses and repairs, ordinary and extraordinary, was $226,671 01; exhibiting an excess of $149,706 73 over the balance for the preceding year. During the year the increase in the capital stock was $45,250; de-rease in the funded debt, $62,908 74; decrease in the rease in the funded debt, $92,908.74; decrease in the fleating debt, $222,900.29; decrease in the general indebtedness of the company, $308,065.53. The assets in cluded, at the close of the year 1852, $379,592.09 of the company's loans, held in trust as a contingent fund, sub; ject to the orders of the Board of Managers.

On the first day of January last, the entire amount of the company's liabilities, including the capital stock, loans, and obligations of every kind, was $7,296,538 81. Since the close of the year 1852 the capital stock has been further enlarged to $1 983,900, the amount at which it now stands. The funded debt has been reduced from $5,283,169 12 to $4,888 895 89. The contingent fund has been augmented to $424,998 09. The estimate for the present season is given at 1,225,000 tons, or an increase of about ten per cent. Much the larger proportion of this production has already been sold at satisfactory prices, and for the balance, a market will, without doubt, be readily found.

There has been more movement in dry goods during the past than the preceding week. First class dealers have not done much, but jobbers have been decidedly busier in supplying a demand for instantaneous consumption at home, as well as for shipment. This increased animation has not, however, affected prices of seasonable fabrics. These have been well maintained on woolens, but have given way on cottons, which latter are plentier and offerd with greater freedom. In addition to the purchases which have been made for immediate use, a few considerable transactions have occurred in articles adapted to the fall trace, which has already partially commenced, though it is not likely to be very vigorous until towards the end of July, as many of our merchants who have succumbed under the exhausting, albeit profitable, labors of the spring, are departing bence for the country to recruit themselves, and will hardly return ere the most sultry and listless period of the year shall have passed by. Some, too, are coming here for Europe, whither they go partly to select their stock for the next season, and partly to re fresh their wearied spirits. In this latter class we recog nise a few of our mercantile friends who, halling from England, repair thither for the twofold object of business and pleasure. Of course the absences, as long as they continus such, must impair the vigor of the traffic, which will doubtless be fully restored upon their reappearance. We hope the result may prove as satisfactery at least as that of the past four months trade.

Brown sheetings and shirtings are generally more abundant and though being in good request for the consumptive and expert trade, they have deteriorated from 1/2 a 1/2 of a cent per yard, closing however with greater firmness, as the reduction in prices has occasioned such extensive purchases as have relieved the market of muck of the pressing stock. Bleached goods have been pretty freely dealt in, as they were procurable at % of a cent per yard less than last week, but are now again comparatively quiet, factors refusing to continue the concession. Cotton fiannels are in moderate demand, Amoskeag, brown, at 11c. a 11½c.; bleached, at 11½c. a 12c; colored, at 12c. a 12%c ; Franklin, brown, at 9%c., and bleached at 9%c ; a 12½c; Frankin, orown, at 5½c, and bleached at 10½c; Man-chester, brown at 9½c, bleached at 10.c., colored at 10½c; Naumkeag, brown at 10½c, and bleached at 11c; Pep; periil, brown at 10.c., and bleached at 11½c, per yard. Denims are less extensively bought at 9½c for Eagle and Oxford, 10c for Columbian, Otis and Thorndike, 11c. for California, 11%c. for Melrose, and 12%c. a 12%c. for Amoskeeg and York. Drills are pretty active and firm, though a slight concession has been made to exporters who have purchased with considerable freedom. Gingon the extreme rates of the season. There has been's little more doing in fresh lawns, at rather better prices than were recently procured for the goods of the Lodi and Portsmouth companies, disposed of at auction. Nankins are unchanged. Osnaburgs are rather dull, and some what nominal. Printing cloths are in brisk request at rising figures. Prints are not so freely offered, but the demand is not active, and prices are without improve-ment. Stripes are much depressed, and can only be sold by retail at 7c for Manchester, 7%c for Neptune, 7%c. for Lehigh, 850 a 850 for Taylor and narrow Jewett city, 9%0. for wide do., 9%c. for Ids. 10e. for Portland, 11c. a 11%c. for Amoskeag, and 12%c. for York. Ticks are quiet, but firm. The following is a comparative statement of the shipments hence of cotton goods during each of the first five months of-

Woollens are in moderate supply, and held very firmly, though the transactions in them are not very heavy. The continued high value of the raw material, by increasing the cost, lessens the extent of production. Hence the confidence of factors who retain stocks, however large, of vendable fabrica. Hence too, the growing eageness to buy commodities suitable to the fall traite, as the impression is now pretty general that the maintenance of pre-ent prices throughout the residue of the year is no longer improbable and that their elevation is not impossible. So far, everything has progressed adultrably, and though there now exists a built in susiness, it is but temporary, and will be extinguished in the course of a few weeks, when the new styles appear in market, and parties resume their occupations after rusticating awhile. The desorphism of woollen goods that has attracted most notice during the seek is coarse, these being the most absoludinat and attainable on the most advantageous terms. Such a description was not much inquired for during the early part of the spring season but, nevertheless, it was respilly manufactured and for warded to market. Hence it became depressed, and is now only partially released from its lauguid condition by the determination of owners to sell it at at it hazards. This they are doing very effectually by slightly reducing its value, and extending the greatest accommodations to buyers. And this induces us to say a few words to manufactures. It is very unwise policy to persevers in producing sund immense quantities of coarse and unattractive goods. A time there was when there might have been profitably manufactured, and that was when the Calinorals excitement first arose. The discovery of gold in that country down thin them very slim wardcobes, and who on their arrival there in careful with them and songet after the less than first parties, which meach and they shought any kind offered them, and songet after the less than first parties, which a were not sufficiently abundant to eatify turnshed. Thus was instead they will increase their own though the transactions is them are not very heavy The continued high value of the raw material, by increas ing the cost, lessens the extent of production. Hence the and steady. Tweeds of select quality and finish are in demand at former rates.

Foreign productions, slapted for no other than the spring trade, are becoming very queet, and as they are in ample supply, especially those of a staple class, they are rather languid buyers having existing advantage. But this termination of the season's business dissatisfies very few, as the previous gains have been sufficiently large and well distributed as to remove all cause for complaint. We hear of the prevalence of no murmars about the past, and but few expressable fears regarding the future. Still, there cannot be too much caution used in preparing for and conducting the full trade, if it be desired that our subsequent success shall prove as remarkable and gratifying as that of the season now nearly extinct. Let us be moderate in our congagements, and we feel certain that, though many may be the inconveniences likely to attend our movesants, few and inconsiderable will be the losses that shall fall to our let. Fancy goods are the most needed at present, and such find pretty free buyers among jobbers and retailers at fair prices. The auction rooms are still the scenes of some bustle, but the character of the articles these offering. Is now, more than ever, such as do not attract the notics of dealers who seek for supplies of seasonable and select commedities. Hence, no potential influence is exerted by the result of the public sales upon trace in its legitimate chennels. Most of the present imports were intended for the next season, until the courmencement of which we are likely to witness the arrival of increasing supplies from European manufactories chiefly to order, though occasionally on producers' own account. Indeed, it is anticipated that the fall importations will be unprecedentedly large, while, unless unexpectedly augmented not far in excess of our wants, to which end the increased out of production is apt to contribute, as it is likevies to the maintenance of prices, on this side of the Atlante.

which end the increased cost of production is apt to-tribute, as it is likewise to the maintenance of prices this side of the Atlantic.
